Carl Maria Von Weber, the composer of Der Freischutz, when very young evinced great taste and talent for music, and was placed as a pupil with Michael Haydn, brother of the great composer. At twelve years of age the young Weber was a pianist of no mean attainments, and published his first composition, a series of fughetti. Moreover, as we tearn from his historian, Von Weber was a man of great modesty of manner, and equable temperament, not likely to be vain, or to show his vanity, if he possessed any. Beethoven must have been familiar with the history of both men, since poser of Freischutz. We do not find in history any mention made of the fact that Spontini refased to conduct the opera on its presentation, for the reason assigned, and conclude the statement is a straggling on dit, not worth attention. Whether or not he did pass such an arbitrary opinion, is a matter of no moment; the people, who are, after all, the true judges, detions, &c., retained the principal features, and old. or not the version used the other evening is one German music is more difficult to interpre properly than English or Italian-and we were prepared to judge leniently in consequence. But the performance, as a whole, was so much better than anticipated, that we shall speak of it by the same standard we have hitherto applied. The orchestra being mostly, if not entirely, German, and accustomed to the music, were pretty much at home. The Victoria choin very falr style : the Laughing song and chorus not quite so well; the trio and chorus "Oh, this To-morrow," was well done We were especially pleased with Mr. Swan's performance in this trio, and, in fact, throughout the entire opera, so far as he had to do. Miss Durand, as Agatha, was in fair voice music—she failed to catch the Inspiration; in the duett between Agatha and Anna she sang very well, so far as intonation and execution are to be considered, but failed to reach the full expression. In the trio between Agatha, Max, and Anna, there were sentences which she delivered well, very well; with a voice of much warmth, melody and feeling; and others again where, without any necessity for change, have lacked in feeling was made up in action.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—The slavery discusslight emeute took place between the debaters.
Brownlow has sometimes exceeded his time, nud the audience have been violent in calling him to order. Brownlow said he was aware that there was a majority of Abolitionists present but he calculated the control of the returing board in 1855, in which Capt. Thorburn was placed on the reserved list and declared unfit or active service.

timidation when he said "some Southerners were present, but he was not afraid of the cracking of their whips." Brownlow then commenced to reply to an editorial of the New York Times, which, taking as a text a state-ment of the prisoners in Louisiana jails, makes sweeping charges against Southern society, and falsely abuses it. It takes convicts confined as representatives of Southern people. The as representatives of Southern people. The Northern abolitionists having sought this issue, he was determined to sicken them with long details, proving the falsity of the Times's statement, and showing the comparative degredation of Northern society, and the superiority of Southern, in civilization. The largest number confined in Southern prisons are foreigners, the next largest from the Northern States, in which New York is the best represented. He also New York is the best represented. He also showed that the largest number of failures oecurred North during the recent crisis, and that there were more mulattoes at the North; conequeutly more prostitution among blacks, and that there were more students at the colleges from the South; and that the Representatives in Congress from the South were better edu-cated than those from the North; that there was more bribery among Northern Legislators. Ile here instanced the Michigan officials, in he La Crosse railroad affairs. Referring to the bolition, free love, women's rights convention, Brownlow said he intended starting a missionary cause to work North, commencing on Boston Common. In concluding, he asked if Prynne would be willing to marry his daughter o a son of some buck-nigger, Fred Douglass, for instance. Prynne, in opening, said he would refer the He elinched the prison statisties of Brownlow, y stating that Southerners went about unpunthe hay crop'of the North outweighed in value the whole cotton, tobacco, rice, hemp and sugar crops of the South. In his statistics of mannfactures, railroads, &c., he showed the comparative superiority of the North, occasioned by free labor. Convention reassembled this morning. A mo-tion was immediately made to proceed to a nomination for Governor. This was diversified by various amendances by ping vace vote and by ballot. The first amendment prevailed. The committee of conference, with a committee from the American convention, subof the men, named C. Chasper, had both arms mittee from the American convention, submitted a report. The report states they had fixed upon an union of opinion on the question of slavery, that they agree upon the necessity for a registry law to protect the ballot box, that they agree upon the necessity for a registry law to protect the ballot box, that they agree upon the necessity for a registry law to protect the ballot box, that they agree upon the was a young man of industrious habits, and the time of naturalization should be extended only twenty-six years of age. He was from to as long as it required for non-residents in our Virginia. The other man, W. Barnston, had been defended to a second defend defend to a second defend to a second defend to a second defend defend to a second defend defend to a second defend State, and it is our duty to combine to defeat the pro-slavery party. The agreement had received six out of eight votes in the Republican at the time of writing, doing well.

IT An eccentric wealthy gentleman stuck up a board in a field upon his estate, on which was painted the following: "I will give this field to any man who is contented." He soon had an applicant. "Well, sir, are you a contented man?" "Yes, sir, very." "Then what do you want with my field?" The appleant did not wenty.

DA few days since, a verdant youth with his blushing bride arrived at one of the principal hotels in this city The head of the family im-mediately registered his name as "S. B. Jones and lady, Albany, on a bridle tower." Is not this a new way to inform the public that you are in the hymenial halter?

IJ'lt was Cobbett who said—and he told the truth, too—that woman is never so amiable as when she is useful; and as for beauty, though a man may fall in love with girls at play, there is nothing to make them stand in their love like seeing them at work, engaged in the useful offices of the home and family.

Talking of malchite, reminds us of the cruel and snobbish retort of Prince Esterhazy to one who showed him with some pride, perhaps, a scarf pin of the precious material. "Oh, yes." was the reply, "I've got a chimney piece made of the same stuff."

The not uncommon custom of pelting a friend, after he has left the company, seems to have been derived from the practice of the an-cient tribes, who erected a monument to a derted hero by throwing stones upon him. BJ'A pastor of one of the Hartford churche last Sunday, just before benediction, desired his flock during the hot weather, before coming to burch, to look at their Bible, instead of them IJ'A teetotaler, the other day, asked a neighhor if he was not inclined to the Temperance Society, and he replied: "Yes; for when he saw Junor his mouth watered!"

The Dead Brought to Life!

II. MONTGOMERY'S DYEING, on Jefferson street, north side, between Third and Fourth, No. 467, where the above maned work is done in a style that surpasses anything in this community. Owners feel disappointed when they see their old clothes; they present a very different appearance for a reasonable consideration. Those philosophers who insuct that drees make the man can put their philosophy to the test at a very triffing oxpouse by calling at J. II. 210 NTGOMERY'S establish ment. These who have dilapsdated wardrobes would do well to have them pass through my hands; they will liad it proteable by so toing. All work placed in my care is done with neatness and dispatch.
All within of Clothing made to order on the shortest notice and reasonable terms.
I feel grateful to the community for their liberal patronage, and I flatter myself that I have given satisfaction, or else I could not have the over-crowd of work that is daily brought to my shop; and has cry is,
"Still they come." It is the whole cy. If you want your work done right, go to Mealgomery's; there you will be pleased, for be is the one can do it. Let those lave it done in a handsome style.

Ladies' Sims, Satins, Velvats, Woolens, and Cottons cleaned and lyed to any shade or color, and warranted wort to rub off or fade. Craps Shawls cleaned to look like new. As the good weather is coming, lades, sead your Shawis and Dresses and have these beautified.
Please call and examine the work at my shop, and satisfy cornerives. Be sure and call at
